MISSOULA--

The Department of Interpersonal Communication at the University of Montana in Missoula will offer a group of special courses and programs during the 1977 Summer Session.

"Communication and Cultural Values in the Classroom", scheduled as part of the UM Pre-session June 13-17, will focus on cultural values learned through the socialization process which may be unconsciously communicated, verbally and nonverbally, by teachers and students in the classroom.

Images presented in media and the impact on consumers' interpersonal communication will be examined in "Image Building Via Mass Media," to be offered June 20-July 15. Three courses which are scheduled for July 18-Aug. 12 include "Planning, Conducting, and Evaluating Training Workshops"; "Female-Male Communication," and "Conceptualization and Measurement of Communication".

In addition, the department sponsors a Summer Only M.A. Program which has been developed for teachers and other individuals who cannot participate in the graduate program during the regular academic year. Information about the program may be requested by writing to the Department of Interpersonal Communication, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59812.

Summer Bulletins and applications are available from the UM Center for Continuing Education and Summer Programs, Main Hall 107, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59812, or may be requested by phoning 243-2900.
